

The Global Reef Record is an ambitious project to photograph in 3D Coral reefs and make this information available to the public. (<http://globalreefrecord.org>)

Check it out, if you can't dive yourself, and even if you can how many of us (other than these guys) can afford to see all those for real?

Yet now we all can see and even see the CHANGES. And as more and more of us will see we can start to connect the dots on the big picture of life.
