

As a present to my birthday, my daughter Anda invited me to see this documentary about a movie which could have been bigger than StarWars, before StarWars, the "JODOROWSKY'S DUNE".

The movie was played at the TIFF and bellow is the YouTube preview on it.

Very interesting and I could only think what Jodorowsky \(IMDB\) could have done those days with the CGI capabilities and power of KickStarter for crowd financing.

Is hard to tell what could have been, I've seen the one made by David Lynch and the Children of Dune sequel and they are good movies, maybe not great but good. Clearly there is a lot of potential in visualising Herbert's saga.

Thank you Anda!
